

Fedora 31 Planning To Upgrade To RPM 4.15 For Faster Builds, Other Improvements

By Roy Schestowitz

Created 25/05/2019 - 3:17pm

Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Saturday 25th of May 2019 03:17:26 PM Filed under Red Hat [1]

RPM 4.15 is due out this year as the latest RPM4 update and Fedora 31 is planning to make prompt use of RPM 4.15 given its new/improved features.

RPM 4.15 is expected to provide faster build performance, a dynamic build dependency generator, experimental chroot operations for non-root users, improved ARM detection, and a whole lot of fixes.

[2]

More Fedora: Sirko Kemter: Khmer Translation Sprint 3 [3]

Red Hat

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/124235>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/142>

[2] https://www.phoronix.com/scan.php?page=news_item&px=Fedora-31-RPM-4.15-Plan

[3] <http://feedproxy.google.com/~r/Karl-tux-stadtFedorapeople/~3/z-QOXOLpAJA/>