

Home > content > Entropic maintainer calls for a ban on Palantir employees contributing to the project and asks other open source communities to take a stand on ethical grounds

---

Entropic maintainer calls for a ban on Palantir employees contributing to the project and asks other open source communities to take a stand on ethical grounds

By Roy Schestowitz

Created 21/07/2019 - 11:21am

Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Sunday 21st of July 2019 11:21:05 AM Filed under OSS [1]

The tech industry is being plagued by moral and ethical issues as top players are increasingly becoming explicit about prioritizing profits over people or planet. Recent times are rife with cases of tech companies actively selling facial recognition technology to law enforcement agencies, helping ICE separate immigrant families, taking large contracts with the Department of Defense, accelerating the extraction of fossil fuels, deployment of surveillance technology. As the US gets alarmingly dangerous for minority groups, asylum seekers and other vulnerable communities, it has awakened the tech worker community to organize for keeping their employers in check. They have been grouping together to push back against ethically questionable decisions made by their employers using the hashtag #TechWontBuildIt since 2018. Most recently, several open source communities, activists and developers have strongly demonstrated against Palantir for their involvement with ICE.

Palantir, a data analytics company, founded by Peter Thiel, one of President Trump's most vocal supporters in Silicon Valley, has been called out for its association with the Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE). According to emails obtained by WNYC, Palantir's mobile app FALCON is being used by ICE to carry out raids on immigrant communities as well as enable workplace raids.

[2]

Also: Open Source Licensing: Why Every Developer Should Know About It [3]

OSS

---

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/126113>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/72>

[2] <https://hub.packtpub.com/techwontbuildit-entropic-maintainer-calls-for-a-ban-on-palantir-employees-contributing-to-the-project-and-asks-other-open-source-communities-to-take-a-stand-on-ethical-grounds/>

[3] <https://www.analyticsindiamag.com/open-source-licensing-why-every-developer-should-know-about-it/>