

Drawing is a Promising ?Microsoft Paint? Alternative for Linux

By Roy Schestowitz

Created 31/07/2019 - 7:43pm

Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Wednesday 31st of July 2019 07:43:39 PM Filed under Software [1]

Looking for a program like Microsoft Paint but for the Linux desktop? Check out the aptly named ?Drawing?, a new GTK app that ably fills the gap.

This simple image editor for Linux desktops is made in the mould of the Microsoft Paint. That mean it isn?t trying to out-do The GIMP, pitch itself as an alternative to Photoshop, or pick up where Pinta left off.

What Drawing can?t do is almost as important as what it can do; that?s to say, it?s a simply designed app designed for simple use-cases.

Think meme making, screenshot annotations, wobbly sketched moustaches on selfies, and that sort of thing.

[2]

Software

---

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/126479>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/38>

[2] <https://www.omgubuntu.co.uk/2019/07/drawing-microsoft-paint-alternative-for-linux>