Carl Richell, CEO of System76, sent me a message this morning that only reinforces why I appreciate that company: they're nimble and they act as quickly as humanly possible. Here's what Richell had to say: "We pushed updates to Mutter Friday morning and users have reported that it resolved the issue for them. The same updates will be in Ubuntu soon as well."

I can happily confirm that installing the latest update on my Oryx Pro running Pop!_OS 19.10 resolved the issue, so a solution is definitely headed your way.
