On this episode of This Week in Linux, we've got some updates for Red Hat's CentOS and RHEL topic that is still making waves. We've also got a lot of distro releases this week from Mageia, Kali Linux, and one of the smallest distros around, Tiny Core Linux. GNOME has announced the beta release of GNOME 40 so there's a lot to talk about there. Then we'll check out a new exciting modular laptop that has been announced. Later in the show, we're going to check out the latest release of Mozilla's Firefox and a really cool hardware project from the RetroArch team. All that and much more on Your Weekly Source for Linux GNews!
