

Xandros, Italy's NoMachine Team Up on New Linux Thin Clients

By srlinuxx

Created 11/11/2005 - 12:49pm

Submitted by srlinuxx on Friday 11th of November 2005 12:49:58 PM Filed under Linux [1]

Linux desktop software maker Xandros and Rome-based NoMachine, which specializes in Linux terminal server remote access and management software, Thursday announced they are teaming up to build new Linux thin-client platforms.

A certified NoMachine NX Client will be included in the first German edition of Xandros Corp.'s Desktop OS 3.1, which will debut Nov. 15 at the Frankfurt LinuxWorld Conference and Expo.

A Xandros/NX server bundle also is in joint development, which would enable users to access a wider variety of applications that run on Linux systems, the companies said in a joint news release.

Full Story [2].

Linux

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/3464>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/63>

[2] <http://www.eweek.com/article2/0,1759,1885106,00.asp?kc=EWRSS03129TX1K0000616>