Andreas Jaeger has announced the release of the second alpha build of SUSE Linux 10.2, together with the decision to rename SUSE Linux to openSUSE: "We're glad to announce SUSE Linux 10.2, code name 'Basilisk Lizard' Alpha2. It's downloadable from today on and will be the last community / consumer distribution called SUSE Linux. We'll rename SUSE Linux to openSUSE. We'll implement the first name change in Alpha 3 and will have a fully renamed distribution with Beta 1 in November."
